

Meet Me Tonight (Eddy/Webster)

I attempted to write a traditional song with a Scottish flavor and this is what I came up with. I tried to set a visual with the "gathering heather" lines etc. The song came together really well but I'm still shocked by its popularity. We've been told by a few couples already that this was the first dance at their weddings so that's nice to hear.

The only original track we did on Pint and it's done really well for us. Byron had this one pretty much nailed down when we got together to work on it. I suggested some different chord progressions, changes in the melody lines and arrangement tweaks and it was done.
