

The Liar (traditional)

Lyricaly the funniest song we do – hands down! I had a ball recording the harmony vocals on this track. Very loose, just chucking in lines where I thought the line was interesting, stacking vocal parts on top of it. I found a Youtube of Elvis doing this song when we were on the road in Nunavut. It sounds a lot different than this...

This song has been recorded by tons of different people with a really wide range of styles. I've even heard a version done by Elvis!
